

Artists: RT Livingston & Francine Kirsch

RT Livingston is a conceptual artist who in 2006 moved from New York to Santa Barbara where she continues making art that focuses on the environment. Paintings from her series "THE CiC:I draw the line where the water meets the sky" and PETRIFIED TRUNKS are visual metaphors for clean water and air: LIFELINES to existence on Earth.

Francine Kirsch immigrated to the US in the 70's from France. After studying ceramics at SBCC, she ventured to Japan where for five years she immersed herself in the study of ceramics. The recurrent themes of her sculptures are inspired by the harmonious lines found in nature. She explores simple forms and sensual curves in her female torsos.
